Luther advises the Immofinanz Group on the construction project Casa Stupenda in Dusseldorf

Frankfurt am Main – The Immofinanz Group is now part of the construction project Casa Stupenda in the Dusseldorf "MedienHafen" – an office complex at the inner city harbour. Luther advised the Austrian property investor Immofinanz Group on tax issues.

As part of a joint venture between the Immofinanz Group and the Capricorn Group, the complex Casa Stupenda will be built on approx. 35,000 m² GFA. The complex will comprise several buildings with six to nine floors and will be built according to the plans created by the famous architect Renzo Piano and then leased as office space. The Capricorn Group is the project developer, and Luther carried out the tax due diligence on behalf of the Immofinanz Group.
